Engineeringmathematicskastroud7theditionpdf406 Election 2016: Trump/Pence or Clinton/Kaine. Apr 13, 2016 by Stephanie Pappas Politics: The president elect Donald Trump delivers his acceptance speech in Cleveland, Ohio, U.S., on Wednesday, U.S. Trump later tweeted: "The forgotten men and women of our country will be forgotten no longer!" Chatting with Sen. Bernie Sanders at a diner in Mount Vernon, Sanders, who in December became the first Jewish presidential candidate to compete for the Democratic nomination, said that he, too, used to believe that the "far right" views held by some of Trump's supporters could not compete with more moderate ones. "Then I would say, 'Oh, we can take them all,' but now we have a real problem," Sanders said. "And I think it is his idea that if we can get a few of our people in Congress, we can begin to do some of the things we want to do. So, I think that is one of the reasons why he is appealing to the far right. But you know what, there is not just some racist, fascist, and authoritarian element to what he says. It is also contradictory." In a discussion with two junior high school students — Hunter, in fifth grade, and Brooklyn, in eighth grade — Sanders outlined his views on the divisiveness and racism that has been a hallmark of Trump's campaign. Alluding to the backdrop of an hourlong interview with Fox News later Wednesday, Sanders said he is concerned that Trump's "divisive and demeaning" campaign is affecting children. "I'm d0c515b9f4
